

Human Ecology Department
Brown Bag Seminar Series

Varieties of Ecological Modernization

&

The Promise of New Technologies

With Dr. David A. Sonnenfeld

Department of Environmental Studies
SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry

Wednesday, April 1st, 2009

George H. Cook Campus

Blake Hall Room 131

12:35 pm to 1:55 pm

David Sonnenfeld, Ph.D. will discuss core concepts and studies drawn from his soon to be published book, "Ecological Modernization Reader: Environmental Reform in Theory and Practice." Over the past 3 decades, a growing group of international scholars working under the broad rubric of 'ecological modernization' have addressed a host of topics including consumption practices and every day life choices, how communities participate in environmental and natural resource management, the role of the commercial sector in leading environmental policy and governance, and the regulation of the flow of environmental goods between nations.

David Sonnenfeld, Ph.D. is Chair of the Department of Environmental Studies at the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry.